BEARD CAUSE OF PROMOTION

University Graduate Held Down by Youthful Appearance - Hirsute Appendage Has Telling Effect.

A recent graduate of one of the great universities secured a place with a well-known firm at a modest salary, says the New York Sun. He fulfilled all his duties satisfactorily, but there seemed to be something lacking. Business callers did not seem to take him seriously, and one would on sionally

"Say, bub, where's the boss?" The graduate finally decided to raise a beard. At the end of a week his employer came to him and said:

"It's a rather delicate subject, but I'm glad that you have realized that it is your youthful appearance that has been keeping you back. You will take charge of the shipping department to-morrow." "And some people say that appearances count for nothing." remarked the graduate. "It took me four years to get a college education, and in four weeks I'll have a beard. I made ten dollars a week on the girer wh of the education, and got promoted the first week on the strength of the beard."

COST OF LOUIS' BUTTONS.

"Grand Monarque" Said to Have Squandered $5,000,000 to Satisfy Peculiar Mania.

Twenty thousand dollars for a dropshaped pearl scarf pin, $15,000 for a pearl stud, $4,940 for a coat fastener formed of a white bouton pearl with gold bar, $850 for seven buttons en suite and $775 for a pair of brilliant sleeve links—those are a few of the prices realized at the recent sale in London of a noble marquis' jewelry. But, after all, everything is comparative, and the marquis' gems, rare and costly though they are, would have been quite eclipsed by Louis XIV.'s personal jewelry. The "grand monarque" had many crazes, but for buttons he had a positive mania. In a single year 1685, he squandered $600,000 on them, and some of his purchases are well worth glancing at. On August 1, 1685. he bought two diamond buttons for 67 .-966 francs, and 75 diamond buttons for 586,703 francs. The buttons for a the 354 "boutonnieres" used 162 contained five diamonds each, while the remainder were single diamonds. In all, the "great monarque" is said to have spent $5,000,000 on butters alone.

CZAR HAD MAD ANCESTORS

Queer Stories About Russian Monarch Recall Doings of Supposedly Insane Forefathers.

While little credence need be attached to the curious stories about the czar that have been flying about recently, it is an unquestionable fact that insanity runs in his house. Three of his predecessors, Peter III., Emperor Paul and Ivan the Terrible, were all more or less mad, and some of their vagaries kept their immediate attendants in perpetual hot water. Peter III., to accustom himself to war, insisted upon having the firing of cannon constantly in his ear. At one time he gave an order to have a hundred of the heaviest guns in the world simultaneously discharged in Moscow solely that he might not in time of war be terrified by an unaccustomed noise. It was Ivan the Terrible who, when suffering from some illness, commanded the city of Moscow to provide him with a cask of fleas as a cure for his malady.

Prof. Borchers, of Aix-la-Chapelle, is said to have invented a process of obtaining the metal calcium by the ald of electrolysis at a very low cost, so that it may play an important part as an industrial metal. "After my first beby was born I did not seem to regain my strength although the doctor gave me a tonic which he considered very superior, but instead of getting better I grew weaker every day. My husband insisted that I take Wine of Cardui for a week and see what It would do for me. I did take the medicine and was very grateful to find my strength and health slowly returning. In two weeks I was out of bed and in a month I was able to take up my usual duties. I am very enthusiastic in its praise."

Wine of Cardui reinforces the organs of generation for the ordeal of preg-nancy and childbirth. It prevents mis-carriage. No woman who takes Wine of Cardui need fear the coming of her child. If Mrs. Unrath had taken Wine of Cardui before her baby came she would not have been weakened as she was. Her rapid recovery should commend this great remedy to every expectant mother. Wine of Cardui regulates the menstrual flow.

GOOD SPORT FOR WOMEN.

Woodehuck Shooting Recommended as a Beneficial Outdoor Exercise

It is acknowledged by all progressive men that as a means of self-protection svury woman should be capable of handing and shooting a rifle or pistol, as well as know how to swim, says a physician in Fishing and Shooting. She requires as much oxygen as the man. Yet, to see har run or throw a stone is convincing that she is not anatomically or physically made for foot or horse racing or moun-ain climbing. The wealthy, athletic, up-to-date young woman has her golf, automobile, etc. She would do well to add 'chuck shooting to her amusements, but those who do are in the minority. We have the teacher, stenographer, shop and facory girl closely confined many heurs every day. As a physician of 50 years experience, I can but note their pale lips and atrophied muscles and long to ad-Instead of spending their vacation at

Ten dollars will buy a rifle and ammunition, or five dollars a fishing outfit. A journey of a few hours will take her into the country, four or five dollars a week will procure substantial board. The rifle or rod will be an excuse or object for an early morning tramp. If a 'chuck's tail or fish is not added to her trophies, she has seen nature at its loveliest, its mounts and hills, its groves and templed hills, and with the pure air has breathed in a deeper love for God and all His works. Like all true sportsmen she will not wantonly kill or cause to suffer any harmless thing He has created. The birds and squirrels will go unharmed, but she will learn much of their home life, as she rests under a hickory tree and watches their gambols

Do not let her think she is alone in her consideration for the little things. Many of our best sportsmen are men of refinement and know the idiosyncrasies of the ant as well as the habits of the grizzly. The wily 'chuck will take him to the hills and fields and, after he has stalked them from early morn until dark, he will feel that he has had variety enough to call it game

It is true, many prefer the horse and yacht, or the automobile and the coroner, while others the humble wood-

DATE AND FIG INDUSTRIES.

New Tropical Importations That Thrive and Prove Successful in California.

If the good work that has been proseuted in California and Arizona during the past few years in cultivating fisand dates continues, these now imported tropical fruits will became as cheap and as common as the California prune and raisin. According to reliable authorities, the California crop of Smyrna figs during 1903 amounted to 130,000 pounds. Of course, 65 tons of dried fruit is a mere bagatelle compared with the market in this country, but it must be remembered that it is only within the past five years that the secret of the pollination of the fig. which fills the fruit with the characteristic minute seeds and develops its delicate flavor, was wrested from nature by the government's experts. 'The pollination is accomplished by a tiny insect. that had to be imported from the shores of the Mediterranean, and, what is still more interesting, this insect is particularly fastidious, and refuses to employ its talents for the benefit of man unless fed on Capri, or wild figs. Accordingly, wild figs, which are worthless for table purposes, had to be imported, and now one of the expenses of fig cultivation is the distribution of the Capri figs throughout the orchards for the benefit of this exacting little insect.

Down in Arisona, where the experimentalists have been struggling with the date palm question for some years past, most gratifying success has been achieved. While a large number of the suckers, brought at great expense and trouble from Algiers and other African date districts, as well as from Arabia have died, the station now has some 422 trees started, some 60 trees in blossom and at least four varieties in fruit. The thoroughness of the world search for promising varieties of dates wil be appreciated when it is stated that specimens of 68 varieties are now growing at the Arizona experiment station grounds.

New Cure for Consumption. A novel cure for consumption has recently been discovered by Dr. Canu. 43 Rue Fontenelle, Rouen, France. The patient is first placed upon the operating table, where the usual saline solutions are injected. Afterwards he is scated upon an insulated table and electricity passed through him for some minutes by attaching poles to metallic plates which had been fastened to his breast and back. During this time sparks can be drawn from any part of his body. This finished, the patient inserts the small end of a conical-shaped tube in his mouth. Into this tube is put a little broom previously dipped into the necessary medicants for the healing of the lungs or whatever organism is attained, and through it the man's body, and an X-ray globe in the rear goes the electric current, carrying with it the medicinal "irons" from the broom.
